

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

talking problems out

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

you don't ever go over answers to problems in the workbook— don't know if I did them correctly

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

go over types of problems of equal difficulty as those on the homework

4. Is my board work legible and easy to read/follow?

yes

5. Are you able to make my office hours?

yes

6. Did you find review sessions helpful? / Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve the review sessions?

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

The recap and explanation of our ~~problems~~ problems in the work book ← wish we did this more.

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

When we don't get recap on our work or some concepts.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

Review the material more, review time of work book problems, maybe give clearer and more helpful hints during group work time.

4. Is my board work legible and easy to read/follow?

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

The small groups are helpful but see below

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

Its frustrating that all we do is small group work with no lecture because then I feel like Im teaching myself the entire material, and why do I bother going to class then.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

Put in more time for you to teach and lecture, then have group work.

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

None.

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

There is no direct instruction & there is little connection to teaching.
*We waste a lot of time.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

If new concepts were introduced as a whole group & then we broke off to practice.
*Have solid plans *More direct instruction

4. Is my board work legible and easy to read/follow?

Yes.

5. Are you able to make my office hours?

No.

6. Did you find review sessions helpful? / Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve the review sessions?

The way this course is being taught does not work with all learning styles. We are not all on the same page because we work independently.

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

?? we don't have discussion...

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

Absolutely no direct instruction not actually learning anything just figuring it out on my own.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

Instruction before we have to do the work on our own.

We all learn different things in our groups because we're teaching ourselves.

4. Is my board work legible and easy to read/follow?

Yes.

5. Are you able to make my office hours?

No. → Dual elementary/spec. ed cohort people (5 students) are all unable.

6. Did you find review sessions helpful? / Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve the review sessions?

Not applicable, haven't had one yet but it would be a lot more helpful if we reviewed in class.

7. If you have any other thoughts or comments please share them.

HW questions are really poorly worded, maybe try reading them to yourself out loud or asking someone else to read them before we are assigned something.

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

Coming together as a class

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

Group work - I personally find your lecturing much more helpful than group work. Group work isn't very effective.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

Go over the correct answers, we never went over the correct answers in the course pack after you were absent and that's what we were quizzed on which wasn't entirely fair.

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

I find it most helpful when we reconvene as a class to go over a problem - specifically when you model how to compute a problem using examples and/or visuals.

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

Sometimes I feel that the group work can be the least helpful in terms of really grasping the information. I like how interactive working in groups can be in that it forces us to be present in our learning, but it can be challenging to keep up with the pace of the group while still mastering the material.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

I think giving us a set of problems to go through and then reconvening as a class to discuss them would be helpful because it serves as a "check-in" to ensure we are grasping the material gradually rather than all at once.

4. Is my board work legible and easy to read/follow?

Sometimes - I think that using formulas can be confusing, especially if we had not used them before in class.

For example - The formula for determining the mean or the probability

5. Are you able to make my office hours?

Yes - one of them that two people in the class share the same birthday.

6. Did you find review sessions helpful? / Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve the review sessions?

We haven't really had a review session yet, but I find office hours to be helpful. Breaking the material down into steps and giving concrete examples to better understand concepts has been particularly helpful.

7. If you have any other thoughts or comments please share them.

I really appreciate your willingness to help and desire for us to succeed - especially when it comes to showing the material differently; or trying a different method to explain the course concepts. Giving specific examples has been particularly helpful.

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

It is good when we go over the problems we did alone on the board so we can see if we did the problem right

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

Group work - it is hard to teach yourself new material when you have no instruction about it before hand.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

Go over more problems and concepts as a class, don't give us homework on information we haven't covered.
