1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

The TA in charge of the discussion appears to really care, indicated with his constant reference to office hours and availability for appointments. It is also beneficial in which he always asks first if there are any questions at the beginning of discussion.

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

I find that simply having a morning discussion can be a bit stressful, beyond that there isn't really anything bad.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

Find better ways to explain the material, essentially ~~not~~ use simpler terminology in order to make the explanation clearer.

Mid-semester Evaluation

1. Which aspects of the discussion do you find most helpful?

Everything you are a good TA and I really do not understand any of Prof. Paul's lectures. You do a fine job at clarifying most things.

2. Which aspects of the discussion do you find least helpful?

Although I answered everything for the last question, sometimes you OVERexplain something which confuses me.

3. Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve discussion to better help you learn the material?

I think if you did more examples with a little less explanation it would help. Sometimes actually doing is better than hearing.

4. Is my board work legible and easy to read/follow?

Yes

5. Are you able to make my office hours?

No

6. Did you find review sessions helpful? / Are there any suggestions you have for how I can improve the review sessions?

Yes, ~~once~~ once again if you could do more examples it would be great.

7. If you have any other thoughts or comments please share them.

I wish Prof. Paul would be more proactive with his students and TAs. He needs to improve his communication.
